

MiMed seminar, January 2024

Contact: seminairemimed.mmsh@gmail.com

Intergenerational care across the lifecourse in transnational families

> Thursday 25th January 2024 at MMSH, Aix-en-Provence

2-4 pm, room Duby, free entry and online.

In English.

Speakers:

Rosa Mas Giral, co-Principal Investigator of Transnational Families in Europe project, Lifelong Learning Centre and School of Geography, University of Leeds, UK

Polina Palash, postdoctoral researcher, Aix-Marseille University, CNRS, Telemme, Aix en Provence, France

Andrea Souto Garcia, postdoctoral researcher, University of A Coruña, ESOMI, A Coruña, Spain

Brigitte Suter, associate professor in International Migration and Ethnic Relations (IMER), Malmö Institute for Studies of Migration, Sweden

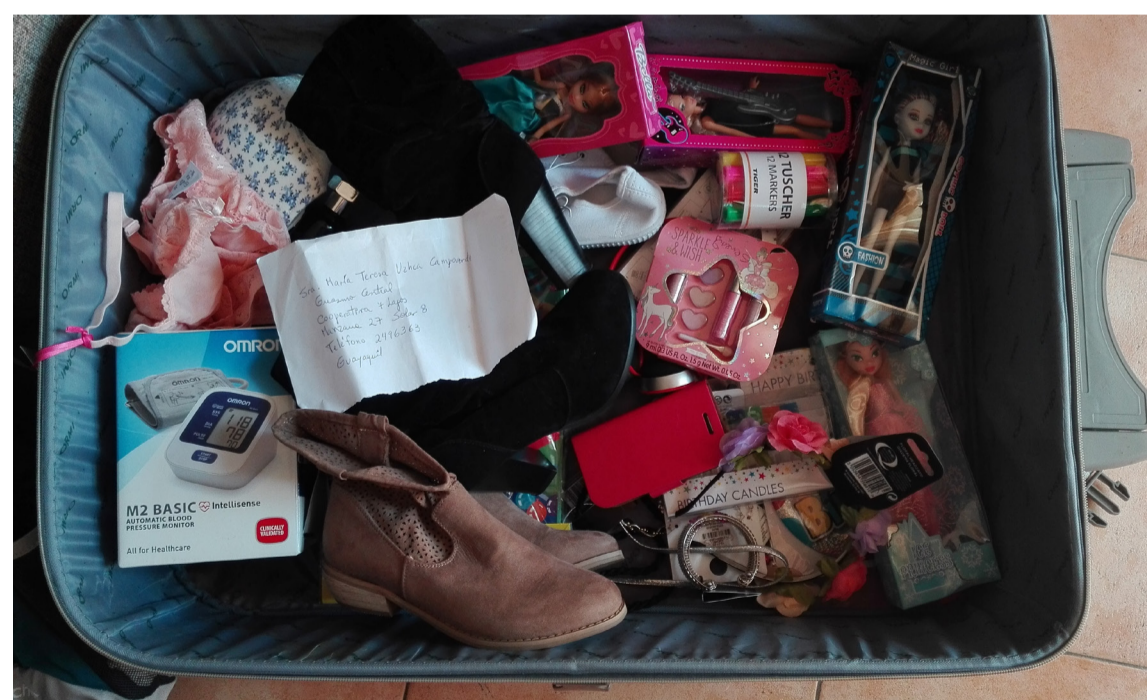

Discussion:

Valentina Napolitano, sociologist, IRD, LPED, AMU, France

Francesca Sirna, sociologist, CNRS, Centre Norbert Elias, EHESS, ICM Fellow, ISSPAM Fellow, France

How do transnational families, separated by borders, maintain ties despite distance? How do parents, children and older people continue to care for each other across distance? This is a central question addressed by the European research project “Transnational Families in Europe: Care, Inequalities and Wellbeing across Generations” (CAREWELL-TF).

The research teams will present some of the results of this project based on two forthcoming articles, one written by the French and Spanish teams and the other by the British and Swedish teams of researchers.

Credits : Polina Palash.